Donald Deming was one of those Connecticut farmers who were among the early settlers of Ohio, and there he established his home near the present town of Rootstown, where he resided until the time of his wives death, when he sold his farm and moved to Clinton, Ind. , and soon afterwards moved to Bloomington, Iowa, where he died. His youth was spent working on his fathers farm, but he found time to gain a common school education. When, at the age of 21, he started out in the world for...
